During the course of the evening I had an opportunity to talk with a number of way passengers living on the West Virginia side. Having some curiosity about the present feeling of the natives with regard to the proposed Wheeling & Medelling & like the old book, as went as cold doctrines.

Methodists, I think, especially, ought to bear in mind that one of the best revisions of our authorized version was made by John Wesley, and more than any other single book it has given character to Methodisc presching and experience for more than a century. Mr. Wesley's nore than a century. Mr. Wesley's 'Notes on the New Testament'' have been "Notes on the New Testament? have been published and circulated in Europe and America by hundreds of thousands. In his preface, after bearing testimony to the general extellence of the English translation, hesays: "Yet I do not say it is incapable of being brought, in several places, nearer the original. Neither will I sfilm that the Greek copies from which this translation was made are always the most correct. And therefore I shall take the orrect. And therefore I shall take the correct. And therefore I shall take the liberty, as accession may require, to make here and there a small alteration." This preface is tated January 4, 1764, and is, therefore, 127 years old. Mr. Wesley had seen and studied Bengel's Gnomon, and his translation and commentary are based upon it, but he was without the advantages of modern researches and criticisms enjoyed by the Canterbury revisers, especially in relation to the character of the cially in relation to the character of the fginal text. A comparison of the two original text. A comparison of the two versions develops some remarkable results. One of the learned gentlemen employed in the recent version exults in the fact that "castaway" has gone out of the New Testament: that "atonement," in Romans v., 11, has become "reconciliation"; that the "besats" of the Revelations have changed into "living creatures"; that "charity," in I, Coriuthians xiii., has bloesomed into "love"; that "by and by," in Matthew xiii., 21, now reads "straightway"; that "damned" has given place to "condemned" in Romans ziv., 23; and that "let," in Romans i., 13, now reads "hindered." Very well, let us all rejoice; but, at the same time, let it be ginia side. Having some curiosity about the present feeling of the natives with regard to the proposed Wheeling & Charleston railroad I ascertained that the Charleston railroad I ascertained that the interest in it is growing every week. Drummers who travel that section of country say they are beesiged with questions regarding the road. Notwithstanding this, however, it seems that there is still much doubt about the enterprise having the right of way given it that would be desirable. Owners of bottom 23; and that "let," in Romans i. 13, now reads "hindered." Very well, let us all rejoles; but, at the same time, let it be remembered that Mr. Wesley made every one of these changes in 1754, and that they are entirely familiar to every Methodist atudent of divinity.

Mr. Wesley translates hades "hell," where it occurs in the Gospels, but in the Acts (ii, 27 and 31), in I Coi., xv, 55, and in the would be desirable. Owners of bottom lands "kick" against having them cut in twain. It is probable that they would perform the same senseless argument if some one were to discover a gold mine on their farms on the basis that the digging involved might ruin the prospects of a dozen turrows of sweet corn. There will not be so much trouble, however, with Thursday, June 30.

PULTON MARKET DOOMED. New Building to Go Up on the Site of the Old Rookery, New York, May 30.—After many delays

New York is at last to be rid of the disgraceful old lot of sheds known as Fulton Market. This structure has long been a hideous blot on the civilization of the metropolis. One of the chief reasons why it has been allowed to stand so long is that the people who traffic there dislike the interruption to their business consequent on tearing down and rebuilding. Another is that there were legal quibbles in the way of spending the city's money for a new building.

What is more distressing than an obtinate akin disease, and why persons should suffer a single hour when they have a sure cure "Swayne's Olintment" is past our comprehension. The worst case of Tetter, Itch, 8al Rheum, or that annoying complaint, Itchin Plies, yield to its wonderful all healing qualities. Plumples on the Face and Blotches or Pimples on the Face and Bloto the Skin are removed by using this healing ointment. Perfectly sale and harmless, ever on the most tender infant.

AN ERUPTION OF RIGHT YEARS' STANDING. As a troubled with an eruption for eight years, itching intolerably at times; tried many preparations without finding relief. Through the use of "Swayne's all-healing Dintment'' I am entirely cured.
